

FANGS IN A BOY'S FACE

Little Fellow Badly Mangled by a Stray Cur

A big mongrel dog attacked several children at play in a yard at 1736 Van Buren street, Camden, on Monday night. John, the 4-year-old son of Samuel Beardsworth, of 1738 Van Buren street, was horribly bitten about the face and arms by the animal and might have been torn to pieces if his mother and some neighbors had not come to his rescue. Mrs. Beardsworth tried to pull the dog away, but the cur had its teeth sunk in the child's face, and it required several vigorous kicks to make it let go. The dog escaped. The boy's wounds were cauterized by a physician. He will recover, but will be marked for life.
